

ROBE OF PEACE

From journeying in nightmares grim,
I came at weary last to Him
and cried out, "Father, I have sinned.
Have mercy on me, please."

All my schemes have come to nought.
In nowhere I have nothing sought,
but pain and death is all I got.
Have mercy on me, please."

Weeping I lay at His feet,
certain He would punish me
for vows of love I did not keep.
Mercy would be denied.

But lo, I felt a tender hand.
A voice said, "Child, I understand.
You've wandered in a bitter land,
your guilty thoughts to hide.

"No child is punished for a dream.
There is no truth in what you've seen.
Eternally you're part of Me,
safe and loved and whole.
Rejoice with Me there is no death,
and heaven you have never left.
So beautiful your innocence,
the radiance of your soul."

My filthy rags were stripped away,
my body oh so gently bathed,
and then a shining gift He gave:
a robe of light and peace.

"My child, I give to you My peace.
Wear it now and let it be a symbol that I live in thee,
from dreams you are released.

"Go again unto your earth
and teach your brothers their true worth
as you heal and bless and serve within My robe of peace.
Tell them of My love for them.
Tell them they have never sinned.
To each of them I long to send a shining robe of peace."

"Encounter By An Empty Tomb" Resta Burnham

There is no death. The Son of God is free.
I did not die, so let Me live in thee:
live in your smile, your happiness and peace;
live in your thoughts that love and bless and heal; live in your heart, at one with all that's real. There is no death. The Son of God is free.

Sweet lilies shine with innocence and truth.
This fragrant gift is all I ask of you.
Lay down the thorns of guilt that crucify.
Forgiveness heals and resurrects your mind.
Here in the garden of an empty tomb,
sweet lilies shine with innocence and truth.

You are my voice, My eyes, My feet,
My hands through which God's Love fulfills salvation's plan. Your songs of joy will break the spell of pain that grips the world in dreams of sin and shame. Teach everyone I live and live in thee. There is no death. The Son of God is free. (readings from ACIM)

“Spirit Within Me”- Elaine Silver

Spirit within me, now I'm see;
perfection and love with clarity.

Spirit within me, now I know;
infinite gifts that you bestow.

I am open I am free.

Divine emotions are healing me.

I'm complete and I am whole.

Sanctified in my heart and soul.

Spirit within me, now I find
so many blessings from one mind.

Spirit within me we are one expanding beyond the moon and sun.

I surrender to the light.

It fills me up and gives me the sight
to see and remember what I feel.

It's gratefulness that I am healed.

Spirit within me I am aware
what I receive is what I share.

Spirit within my consciousness
reaching out to manifest.

All my desires, wants and needs
are more than met in word and deed.

Abundance flowing to my door continues now and forever more.

Spirit within me, now I'm see
perfection and love with clarity.

Spirit within me, now I know
infinite gifts that you bestow.

I am open I am free.

Divine emotions are healing me.

I'm complete and I am whole.

Sanctified in my heart and soul.

Sanctified in my heart and soul.

Sanctified in my heart and soul.
